HUNTING DUCKS IN SPRING PROHIBITED

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE FIXES CLOSED SEASON FOR FOWLS.

The Nimrods Are Practically Deprived of Sport By the Ruling.

Spring duck shooting is at an end in the United States. Regulations for the protection of migratory birds, approved on Oct. 1 by President Wilson prohibit the killing of game and insectivorous birds during the breeding season, and place them in the custody of the United States government, which through the department of agriculture has established zones throughout the country and fixed closed seasons for each.

The Duck Season.

According to the rules laid down by the department of agriculture the killing of ducks must cease in Illinois on December 16 and the closed season is to last until Sept. 1.

Hit Illinois Hunters.

Illinois hunters are hit hard by this decree of the government. In some portions of the state they are practically shut off entirely from hunting ducks, as owing to local conditions the spring months afford the only good shooting. It is said that the Green Wing club of 30 members, which leases 7000 acres east of Bureau in the Illinois river bottoms, will be virtually put out of business and the membership certificates rendered almost valueless.

Deprives Farmers.

Farmers in the Green river districts will also be completely deprived of hunting privileges by the ruling. During the spring floods of former years ducks were plentiful in the Green river marshes and there was excellent hunting in the vicinity of New Bedford and Mineral but in the fall there is no high water and ducks are rare.

The sections affecting Illinois hunters follow:

A daily closed season on all migratory game and insectivorous birds shall extend from sunset to sunrise.

A closed season shall extend until Sept. 1, 1918, on wood ducks and woodcock.

Each period of time prescribed as a closed season shall be construed to include the first day and exclude the last day thereof.

In Illinois the closed season on waterfowl shall be between Dec. 16 and Sept. 1.

The closed season on woodcock shall be between Dec. 1 and Oct. 1.

Persons recommending changes in the regulations or desiring to submit evidence in person or by attorney as to the necessity of suggested may do so by making application to the secretary of agriculture. Whenever possible hearings will be arranged at central points, but the department gives notice that evidence based upon reasons of personal convenience or a desire to kill game during a longer open season will not be considered.

BLACKBURN TAKES OVER BOVEY SHEDS

WILL MOVE HIS LIVERY TO THE NEW LOCATION ON NOV. 15TH.

Michael Blackburn has taken over from A. C. Moeller his lease on the Bovey sheds, Ottawa avenue and River street, formerly occupied by the Wilbur Lumber company, and on November 15 he will move his livery and feed stables to that place. For some time Mr. Blackburn has been in need of larger quarters and it is thought the old sheds will meet his requirements more fully. Several alterations will be made before Mr. Blackburn assumes possession.

CHRISTIAN CHURCH.

C. C. Carpenter of Princeton, Ill., will preach at the Christian church tomorrow, both morning and evening. All are welcome.

LINCOLN WAY TO BE MARKED SOON

THE NATIONAL ROAD WILL BE MARKED ACROSS CONTINENT BY NEXT FRIDAY.

Detroit, Oct. 25—The route of the Lincoln highway will be marked, almost without a break, from New York to San Francisco by the night of Friday, Oct. 31, when the dedication celebrations are to be held across the country. Some of the states, particularly in the west, have already completed the work. The official copyrighted marker of the association is 21 inches high, comprising a strip of red three inches wide, a band of white 16 inches wide and a strip of blue three inches wide below. On the white band is the large letter "L" with the word "Lincoln" above and "Highway" below.

In many of the cities the route is marked today. In Philadelphia the Philadelphia Trade association is marking the route from one end of the city to the other. In Omaha all the signs are up, as they are in Clinton, Ia., and a dozen other points. The markers are now being placed across the state of Nevada and in Utah, Illinois and other states work is progressing rapidly. In Nebraska, H. E. Frederickson, state consul, reports that about two-thirds of the old Overland Trail has been marked and that the balance will be completed this week.

The various state consuls report an ever increasing interest in the sale of contributor's certificates. Not only owners of automobiles but persons in every walk of life are subscribing $5 or more to the fund and within a short time the result will be a lasting, nation-wide memorial to Lincoln.

HOLDS EXECUTORS FOR SALE NOTES

JUDGE FARRAND ORDERS ATTORNEY BROOKS TO PAY THE HEIRS OF WARREN MARCH.

Attorney H. A. Brooks, as executor of the estate of the late Warren March, was held responsible by Judge Farrand in the Lee county circuit court, for the collection of notes given him at an executor's sale and he was ordered by the court to pay the amount of the notes, $500, to the heirs of the deceased. Judge Farrand's holding sustain the action of the county court, from which it was appealed.

The heirs of Mr. March charge Mr. Brooks with negligence in the collection of these notes, which were signed by Stitzel and Lenox, and the findings of the circuit court are to the effect that the executor did not use the ordinary care and judgment of a business man in handling the affair.

Mr. Brooks was given forty days in which to file an appeal bond of $600 to carry the case to the appellate court, and 60 days in which to appeal.

CRITICISM.

Criticism, even adverse and uncomplimentary, harms no one, for if it is fair and true, the erring one may better be made to see his faults at once, faults that he may not have known he had, that he may correct them if he so desires; and if the criticism is unjust, false and malicious, the critic is the sufferer, though he may be bigoted enough not to know it.

SOLD TON OF HAMS.

The efficiency of advertising and the zeal of Dixon people watching this paper for bargains was demonstrated again this morning when Elmer Grant sold one ton of picnic hams before 9 o'clock, less than three hours after they were put on sale.

SECOND STREET OPEN.

Contractor George Welch this afternoon opened for traffic the intersection at Second street and Monroe avenue, thereby throwing Second street entirely open.

BASEBALL FAIR CLOSES THIS EVE

DIXON STARS' WEEK'S ENTERTAINMENT WILL COME TO AN END.

The Dixon Stars' bazar, which has been the big entertainment in Dixon this week and which has been fairly successful, will close this evening and it is certain that the crowd attending will fill Rosbrook hall to capacity. The boys have made arrangements to handle the large crowd tonight, and the dancing will be conducted most systematically. There will be special inducements for those who patronize the booths, also.

THIEVES OPERATE IN WEST END

SEVERAL ARTICLES REPORTED STOLEN FROM THE J. C. WILLEVER HOME.

It is reported that thieves are operating in the west end of the city. Last Tuesday evening Mrs. J. C. Willever had a fine tablecloth taken from a line and this morning Mrs. Willever discovered that her good copper boiler was stolen. Others in the vicinity of the Willever home have had chickens stolen.

JOE TINKER WILL SPEND A WEEK HERE

Joe Tinker, former famous short stop of the Chicago Cubs and now manager of the Cincinnati National league team, is expected in Dixon on Monday for a week's visit with Ward Miller. The two are the warmest of friends and Tinker will spend the week hunting with his old pal.

HE WAS A SPECIALIST.

"My son," said the father who was somewhat given to moralizing, "this is the age of specialists and specialties. Is there anything that you can do better than anyone else in the world?"

"Yeth, thir," lisped small Henry. "I can read my own writing."

HANDY HEAT.

Heat is a very valuable factor in the treatment of many ailments, toothache, neuralgia, cramps, cold feet, pain of any kind will yield to persistent heat. The most convenient way in which heat can be supplied is through the aid of a good Hot Water Bottle, which can be had at A. H. Tillison's.

COWLES MOVE.

Mr. and Mrs. Perry Cowles have moved from Kenosha to Racine, Wis.

FREEPORT WOMEN CONFESSES WRITING "ARNOLD" LETTERS

DEFENSE AT FREEPORT SPRUNG DECIDED SENSATION YESTERDAY.

PROSECUTION IS PARALYZED

Mrs. Lena Enzler, Wife of Plumber, Admits Crime Charged to Doctor.

The defense in the trial of Dr. B. J. Arnold at Freeport for sending obscene letters through the U. S. mail sprung a sensation Friday by producing a woman who confessed to having written the obscene letters the defendant is charged with writing, and mailing them to Miss Alta Rosenstiel. The woman is Mrs. Lena Enzler, wife of Tony Enzler, a plumbing contractor of that city.

Before going on the stand she broke down in a corridor and cried: "Please don't take me in there before all those men. I don't want to read those letters. Please don't send me to prison."

Attorney R. R. Tiffany for the defense was forced to lead her into the court room. As she sat down in the witness chair she became hysterical. When asked to testify she fled from the room and ran screaming down the corridor in an attempt to escape the ordeal.

Will Not Testify Until Tomorrow.

She was stopped by deputy marshals and brought into a side room, where Attorney Tiffany and Judge Landis succeeded in calming her, but she refused to take the stand until today.

Then she was taken into Judge Landis' chambers where Assistant District Attorneys Godman and Krim bill made her write specimens of her handwriting. She was tested, n words contained in the alleged obscene letters, and what she wrote practically convinced the prosecution that she actually did the physical writing of the letters sent to the Rosenstiel girl.

Judge Landis immediately adjourned court after the girl had promised she would testify today.

Prosecution Paralyzed.

The turn in the case momentarily paralyzed the prosecution. On the suspicion that the woman's confession may be a frameup, the government started a searching investigation. Several subpoenas were issued for persons who are supposed to have knowledge of Mrs. Enzler's attitude toward Dr. Arnold and the Rosenstiel family.

TO BUILD POWER ENGINE PLOWS FOR FAIRBANKS-MORSE COMPANY.

The Grand Detour Plow company of this city has just completed lengthy negotiations with the Fairbanks-Morse company whereby the local institution contracts to build all of the power engine plows of the concern. The completion of this contract will mean much to the Grand Detour factory, as the Fairbanks-Morse company has forty-four branch houses and through them sells an enormous output.

AGED MAN BROKE LEG IN THREE PLACES

SIMON HANLON, WHO RECENTLY MOVED TO MILWAUKEE, HAS MISHAP.

Word has been received by friends that Simon Hanlon, the old harness maker who recently moved to Milwaukee to reside, fell down a flight of stairs the first night he was in Milwaukee, fracturing his leg in three places. The news from Milwaukee contained the additional information that because of Mr. Hanlon's advanced age it is not believed he will ever be able to leave his bed again.

PRESERVE THE RIVER BANK

A good place for the tons of dirt that are being hauled out of the streets to make room for the brick paving in West Dixon would be the washed out hole along the north bank of the river, between Galena avenue and the dam.

A breakwater of wooden piling, filled behind with the dirt and loose rock, would save the bridge and the dam from destruction and a driveway could be built along the top of it and extend up along the river bank that would be a great addition to Dixon's numerous beauty spots.

FOOTBALL TODAY.

The Mt. Morris football team, a husky and fast looking bunch of high school students, arrived in Dixon this morning and are this afternoon playing the local team at Athletic park.

MOVES TO DIXON.

E. W. Parker, a Rockford traveling salesman, is moving his household goods and family to this city, to make his future home here.

M. J. M'GOWAN CHASES ROEBER

WELL KNOWN DIXON MAN FIGURED PROMINENTLY IN HOLDUP AT ROCKFORD.

Rockford Register Gazette: Local police are still searching for a daring holdup man who choked and robbed Lovejoy Johnson, an aged Stillman Valley man, in the toilet room of the St. Paul passenger depot Thursday afternoon. He escaped by jumping through the window, taking Johnson's purse containing $60 in currency.

M. J. McGowan, claim agent for the St. Paul company, was in the roadmaster's office at the depot at the time of the holdup and at once set out in pursuit of the man and after a chase of three or four blocks the crook turned and pulled a revolver on McGowan and threatened to kill him if he came further.

Police were notified and at once began a search of the city. Descriptions were given by many people who witnessed the escape.

Mr. Johnson, who is over seventy years of age, soon recovered from his rough handling. He was stranded in the city and was forced to telegraph home for money. He is a well known farmer.

According to the police and railroad officials the man is the same one who has been snatching women's purses in the waiting room and on crowded depot platforms. Four such cases have been reported within a few days.

IMPORTANT MATTER WILL BE DECIDED

JUDGE FARRAND TO GIVE STATE A PRECEDENT MONDAY MORNING.

Monday Judge Farrand in the circuit court will deliver his decision in the Lutz case, and his opinion will be one of great interest to lawyers and courts all over the state, for the Dixon judge is the first to pass on conditions which have never before been brought to the attention of the courts of the state.

Therein Judge Farrand's findings will establish a precedent for the courts of Illinois, and will undoubtedly cause some changes in procedure in probate courts. The question which the local jurist will be called upon to settle, and which is a new one, is the necessity of appointing a guardian ad litem in all probate proceedings in which there are minor heirs. Heretofore this matter has never been brought before any probate court and as the question is a vital one in the handling of estates it can be seen the importance that will attach to Judge Farrand's opinion.

GET THIS BOOKLET.

Secretary Raymond of the Citizens' association is in receipt of an attractive booklet from the National Capital, gotten out by the Chamber of Commerce of that city. The booklet is about 144 pages, beautifully illustrated, and furnishes an excellent guide for the tourist or visitor.

CORN CROP SHORT.

The corn crop of Illinois will be nearly 50 per cent less this year than last and in nearly all other crops it will be a lean year according to the outlook published by the department of agriculture. The estimated corn crop for Illinois this year is 284,300,000 bushels, while last year it was 426,300,000 bushels.

EXPOSITION OF SHAM SOCIETY

Denounces Silt Skirt Methods and Poodle Dog Nonsense—Meetings Continue Two Weeks.

Yesterday was the best day so far in the evangelistic meetings being conducted by Evangelist Miller in West Dixon. The mothers' meeting at 3 p. m. drew a good audience and was interesting, as many testified who listened to Mr. Miller's message on "Three Great Questions Touching the Home," from the text, "Is it well with thee; is it well with thy husband; is it well with thy child?" He illustrated in a telling way how the men and women of tomorrow lay in the arms of the motherhood of today and that they were the real builders of the home, state and nation of tomorrow. He showed the ridiculousness of the silt skirt methods and the poodle dog nonsense of sham society and urged mothers to teach their girls how to make beautiful and happy homes.

At 7:30 the largest audience which has yet greeted the evangelist entered with enthusiasm into the singing of the beautiful new hymns in the new song book used in the meetings. Hymns for the People, and joined heartily in the chain of Scripture read by the pastor and audience on "The Christian in Prayer." Mr. Miller spoke on "Christ in the Bethany Home" using the text, The Master is Come and Callesth for Thee. He drew a beautiful picture of the Bethany home and the banquet after Lazarus' resurrection and sent home some telling shots on the relation of the church to the community. Services tonight at 7:30. Mr. Miller will speak at the morning service Sunday and address a rally of young people at 3 p. m. and speak at 7:30 Sunday evening.

EXPLAINS DELAY IN RECEIPT OF LAW

TARDINESS OF PRINTERS CAUSES SHORTAGE OF GAME REGULATIONS.

City Clerk Blake Grover has received a communication from C. J. Dittmar to the effect that the state game and fish commission is making every possible effort to get copies of the game laws into the hands of the officials for distribution, but the inability of the commission to secure them from the printers in large lots is responsible for the delay. The contract was let for 200,000 copies of the laws, but thus far only 10,000 have been delivered.

WALK NEEDS REPAIRS.

Pedestrians are complaining loudly and constantly of the condition of the cement walk between the Aurora Brewery and Grant buildings on First street. The walk has badly broken on the incline, making walking dangerous.

Indian summer is with us. "How soon some people forget winter," said a coal merchant today. "The next cold spell we have we'll get more orders in a day than we can fill in three days." Better get the coal while the nice weather is here.

Sam Huggins is busy thinking up something on the other fellow. Mr. Valle is still in Freeport. He phoned that he thought now he could get home on Sunday.

The superintendent's special passed through Friday morning westward bound. It returned late in the afternoon.

Mrs. Ralph Vinton returned to San Diego, Cal., last night. She was accompanied by Mrs. Theo. Drexel.

R. C. Caughey of the Plow company has gone to Hebron to demonstrate a Grand Detour automatic self lift gang plow.

Al Springer of Amboy, traveling janitor for the I. C. between Mendota and Freeport, was here Friday and gave the I. C. freight house office a thorough scrubbing.

Jack Riley is authority for the statement that the city champions enjoyed the banquet tendered them on Thursday night at the Sunnyside cafe. The champions were honored by the presence of the Browns, Mr. Wm. Sneathern and favored by a speech from him.

Lyle Northrup and Frank Murray went hunting Friday. What luck they had remains to be told later.

W. H. Flemming went to Chicago Friday. Robert Anderson appeared behind the counter of the meat market.

Dennie Ryan's sister is visiting him.

Friday was canned goods day at Jones'. A carload was received for home consumption. This was the biggest shipment of the kind to the city.

We now have an auto livery.

F. J. Richards of Chicago, sales manager for the Carterville Coal company, was on the avenue Friday on business.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wagner and Mr. and Mrs. Josiah Fry motored to Oregon to the Black Hawk monument on Friday, going in the Wagner car.

The products of the avenue are in demand everywhere. Valle shipped three sacks of flour to Kentucky on Friday. What do you think of that for reputation.

Twenty friends of Walter Hoburg surprised him Thursday evening at his home. An excellent dinner was served and the young man will not soon forget his 23rd birthday. There was a program of splendid music. The guests enjoyed games until a late hour.

According to his many friends on the avenue Thomas Childs must be some marksman. They tell the story that Tom, while driving in the vicinity of Eldena, noticed a squirrel on a stump eating a nut. He shot the nut from the animal's mouth, the shock knocking the squirrel from the stump to the ground. In a second the squirrel was again on the stump wagging his tail at Tom.

We have another freak with us. This time it is a vacuum engine that Fred Wagner has on exhibition at his place of business. This engine has no intake or exhaust, and you ought to watch the thing run. A large crowd of people witnessed the engine in operation Friday. It is the only engine of its kind in the United States—Fred tells us in the world. All that is required to get the engine in operation is the heat from a small alcohol lamp.

So we are going to have a poultry show. We have some fellows up here who will get several of the blue ribbons.

Take it from us that "Within the Law" will be in Dixon very soon.

Weller of the Chicago Tribune, on Ward Miller: Ward Miller, who acted as manager for the barnstormers, was given a vote of thanks for his efforts in getting the games, but at the same time the fellows said that as a manager Miller was the best corn husker in Dixon, Ill. As soon as further attempts to pasture were given up Miller took a train for the farm with the hope of getting all of his corn in the crib before the next snow storm.

An avenue school teacher having instructed her pupils to purchase a grammar, the next day received a note, thus worded, from a certain child's mother: "I do not desire for Lulu shall engage in grammar as I prefer her engage in useful studies and can learn her how to spoke and write proper myself. I have went through two grammars and I can't say they did me no good. I prefer her engage 'n drawing and vocal music on the piano.

MISTAKEN IDENTITY.

She was plump, all of that, and weighed about 300 pounds. She was learning to skate at the rink over Gaffney's garage, when her feet skidded and she fell. Several attendants rushed to her side, but were unable to raise her at once.

"Don't be alarmed, Madame," they assured her. "We'll get you up."

"Oh, I'm not alarmed; but your floor is terribly lumpy."

And then from underneath came a small voice, which said: "I'm not a lump! I'm one of the attendants."

U. P. Looked Like Up.

They tell a good one on our good friend, John H. Byers, now secretary to Congressman McKenzie but at one time an employee of the Illinois Central freight office at this point.

When John was a young man, just starting in on his duties in the office, Carl Backus suggested that he go out and open the door of a freight car standing outside. The car was the property of the Union Pacific, and on the door was printed the initials, "U. P."

J. H. piped the lettering and went to work. In about a half hour Mr. Backus wondered what had happened to Mr. Byers, so he went out to see, and he found John struggling and muttering to himself in his efforts to get the door open.

"What's the matter, John?" "Well, I can't seem to get this blamed door up," grunted John.

"Why, that door doesn't go up; it slides aside," answered Mr. Backus.

John said: "Well, it says right there on the door, you can see it yourself, 'UP.'"

American Style.

New Yorkers are so accustomed to seeing things done in their own way that they never stop to think how they are done until somebody else makes a virtue of doing them that way. Two American women who had always accepted everything at home as a universal custom were astonished to see in a London drug store window this notice:

"American drugs and drinks. Paracels fastened American style."

They were sufficiently interested to step in and inquire what the American style was?

"With rubber bands," said the clerk, and deftly snapped a band around a bottle in the familiar way.

"But how else would you fasten it?" they asked.

"With sealing wax," he said. "No conservative English firm would dream of using anything else. It is only the stores that make a bid for the American trade that will use rubber bands."

Urgent Need of More Water.

If a reason is sought for the hold which beer drinking has on people it may be found in part in the difficulty of getting water to drink. That also gives the soda fountain business. The New York Tribune has published a letter from a citizen of New Jersey who complained that he could not get a drink of water in New York city. His complaint is just, and it applies to every town and city. The person who wishes a cooling draft must pay money, five cents at least, for it, and he can rarely get water even then. Various attempts to meet the lack have failed, and the discovery of the germ theory has contrived to render the failure apparently final.

Profanity Once Indispensable.

Swearing was at one time regarded as an indispensable accomplishment. Evelyn Ashley once told Sir Algernon West that on his father becoming Lord Shaftesbury, Lady Caroline Neeld, his sister, said to him, in all seriousness, "Now that you have come into the title, you must learn to swear. Your father always did, and gained great respect by it in the county." Those were the days when the archbishop of Canterbury, calling upon Lord Melbourne to discuss some business, said: "Now, my lord, it will save time, if, before we begin, we assume that everybody and everything is damned."—London Chronicle.

Religious Feeling in Railway Guide.

Although the provision "D. V." has never figured on railway time tables, a close examination of Bradshaw reveals a trace of strong religious feeling. On the cover the months are referred to by their numerals—"1st mo." for January, "2nd mo." for February and so on.

Bradshaw as a Quaker objected to taking the names of the months from heathen emperors and deities, and this prejudice has been perpetuated since the first issue of the time table seventy-two years ago.—From the London Evening Standard.

EMPLOYMENT FOR OLD CAR

Gardener Has Found Really Ingenious Use for Automobile That Has Had Its Day.

"Where do all the old cars go?" is a question that is asked continually, and there are very few persons who can even approximate the answer with any degree of satisfaction either to themselves or to others. But it is certain where at least one of them has gone for it has been turned into a lawn mower. The reason for its fall from aristocratic to plebeian work is because its owner has a really tremendous lawn to keep in trim; he is head gardener for a large golf club and as every one knows putting greens must be kept "just so." There was an antiquated two-cylinder automobile on the premises that long had ceased to be of any practical value for pleasure purposes and the gardener conceived the bright idea of making it "die in the harness," so to speak. So with the help of some steel strips and some chains he attached no less than three lawn mowers to it—originally they were drawn by horses. The steering gear is intact except that the place of the front wheels is taken by a heavy roller; two rollers take the place of the driving wheels.—Scientific American.

Beautiful Bird of Paradise.

Women of fashion who wear the bird of paradise plumes do not realize how beautiful the bird is that surrenders to them its pride and glory. Its total length is about eight inches; its body, wings and tail are of a rich coffee color, which deepens on the breast to a blackish violet or purple brown. The whole top of the head and neck is of a delicate straw color, the feathers being short enough to look like velvet. The lower part of the throat is covered with emerald green feathers which reach to the eye, and velvety plumes of a still deeper green extend in a band across the forehead and chin as far as the eye, which is bright yellow. From each side of the body beneath the wings springs a dense tuft of long and delicate plumes, sometimes two feet in length, of the most intense golden orange color and extremely glossy, but changing toward the tips into a pale brown.

The Best He'd Ever Known.

"I remember some years ago, traveling in a third-class carriage with two mechanics and a clergyman," says an English writer of note. "Presently the workmen began to discuss a mutual friend. 'Ah, he was a good man,' said the elder of the two, 'the best man I think I have ever known, and I am over fifty.' I saw the parson prick up his ears. This eulogy of personal goodness appealed to him—it was in his line. 'Yes,' the workman continued, thoughtfully, 'the very best man I ever knew. The way he guarded with his right and got in with his left on the conk was a blooming revelation.'"

Dignifying the Oyster.

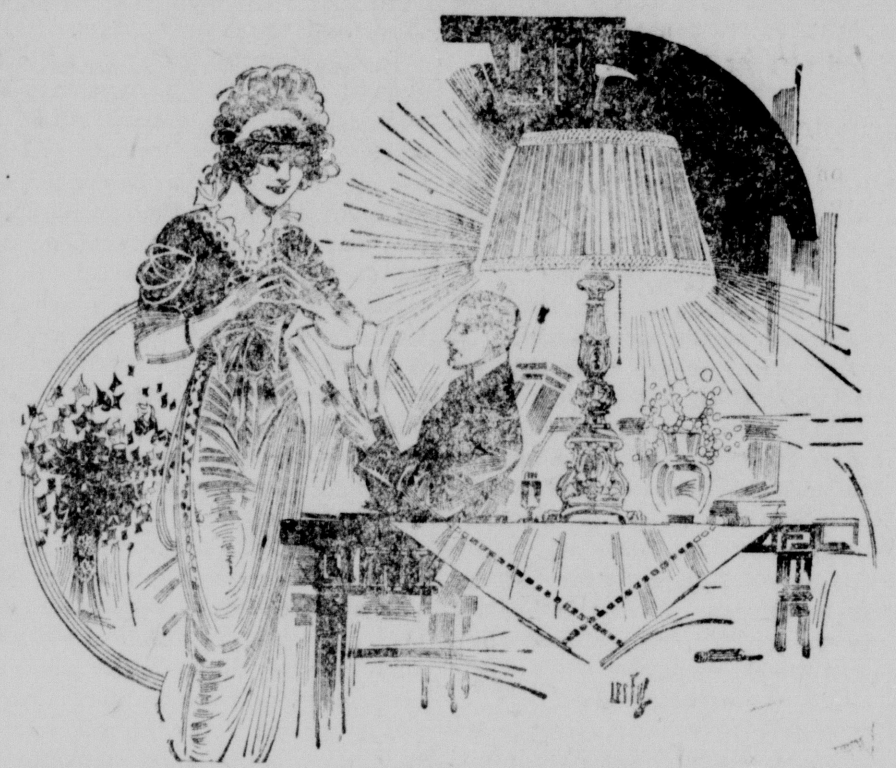

Mr. Justice Darling has defined a sheriff as something which is half-way between an oyster and a lord mayor. But Thackeray anticipated the judge in attributing human intelligence to oysters. "I was walking with him one evening from the club," writes Edmund Yates, "and, passing a fish-shop in New street, he noticed two different tubs of oysters, one marked 'Is a dozen,' the other 'Is 3d. a dozen.' 'How they must hate each other!' said Thackeray, pointing them out."

Boon Indeed.

"At last," exclaimed the long-haired inventor, "I have evolved the greatest practical blessing of the age."

"Oh, tell me, Theophilus—tell me what it is!" begged his wife.

"A collar button with a little photograph inside that will call out when it rolls into a dark corner under the dresses, 'Here I am! Here I am!'"

PULMOTOR SAVES LIFE AT FREEPORT

W. G. SUESS, TRAVELING SALESMAN, OVERCOME BY GAS IN A HOTEL.

Freeport, Oct. 25.—Unconscious from escaping gas and lying in a bath tub full of water, W. G. Sues, a traveling salesman, was found by employees of the Colvin hotel early last evening. Drs. Best and Collins were summoned and after using the pulmotor for nearly an hour succeeded in restoring Sues to his normal condition.

Sues came to the hotel last evening. Later he went to a bath room on the second floor to take a bath. He lighted the instantaneous water heater, which was heated by gas. It is not known whether he did not turn off the gas properly or just how the trouble came about, but at any rate the gas escaped from the pipes and in a few moments filled the room. This morning Sues was greatly improved and stated that the affair was an accident.

room in the afternoon with his wife, he said:

"Now will they quit hammering the Arnolds?"

It developed that the woman confessed to Attorney Tiffany last February.

Her only motive for writing the notes, according to the lawyer, is she was on unfriendly terms with the Rosenstiels.

Arnold Denies Writing Notes.

Early yesterday Dr. Arnold took the stand in his own defense. He denied writing the letters, gave a demonstration of his handwriting and said the charges against him were made as the basis of a "blackmailing" plot on the part of the Rosenstiels.

He was subjected to a four hours' cross examination by Assistant District Attorney Godman. Under a rapid fire of questions he denied he had caused the letters to be written or instructed any one to write them for him.

As a result of the new developments it is likely the grand jury will be recalled.

ALFALFA CROPS CREATES INTEREST

WHITESIDE FARMER HAS A REMARKABLE YIELD—CAN BE PROFITABLY RAISED.

On August 7th at Rock River Assembly—Coburn Will Speak on Farmers' Day.

The remarkable crop of alfalfa raised by Thurston H. Adams in Gardenplain township, in Whiteside county, is attracting attention over the state. The crop gathered by him this year is evidence that alfalfa can be profitably raised in this section and in the near future, it is expected, many farmers will go into the alfalfa growing business, if only on a small scale.

The yield on the Adams farm this year from three cuttings was five and one-half tons per acre. At the very low price of $12 a ton the hay would make a magnificent revenue of $66 per acre.

Some idea of the remarkable value of alfalfa can be gained from this big yield; $66 an acre is equivalent to 6 1-2 per cent interest on land worth $1,000 an acre. Mr. Adams used only ordinary cultivation and did not treat the land with lime or other fertilizer. Mr. Adams is of the opinion that if he had invested about $3 an acre in lime the yield would have been much greater.

Alfalfa Growers Meet.

The alfalfa growers of the state will meet at the Rock River Assembly next year. The day set apart for the farmers is August 7. On this day F. D. Coburn of Topeka, Kas., regarded as the greatest alfalfa man in the world, will deliver an address upon "Alfalfa, Its Growing, Worth and Uses."

Hon. A. P. Grout of Winchester, Ill., is president and will preside during the day.

Hon. A. N. Abbott of Whiteside county, will assist in making the day a big success.

Dine at Sheffield.

Mrs. W. T. Galt and Misses Jane Galt, Helen Neff, Utley, Wolfersperger and Edwards, all of Sterling, dined at the Sheffield today.

OREGON METHODISTS WITHOUT A MINISTER

Oregon Republican: The Methodist flock of this city are sheep without a shepherd. Rev. A. A. Mahoney was assigned to Oregon and made his appearance here the Sunday following conference. While in Chicago last week shipping his personal effects to this city Bishops Quayle and McDowell got together and snatched Mahoney away from Oregon and handed him to a church up in Minneapolis. What is in store for Oregon is not known and the next move is up to the powers that be. We will probably have a preacher but may be forced to order him through Montgomery Ward or the Sears Roebuck company.

SLIGHTLY HURT.

Michael Murphy was knocked to the pavement today when a horse, driven by Superintendent Hoeffer of the Water company, shied at a passing car and jumped onto him. He sustained a slight cut in the head.

Police Sergeant Gaffney has returned from a vacation visit at Joliet.

Quality, Keynote of British Crops.
Quality must always be the keynote of British agriculture, as the area is far too small to enable farmers to grow the quantities of produce that the newer countries of the world can yield; and in no connection is quality of greater importance than that of the cereal crops. Wheat, oats and barley will occupy a considerable portion of the land, and the condition in which they are put on the market substantially affects the prices they realize.—London Telegraph.

Won't Chase Female Wolves.

Sometimes it is almost impossible to clear a neighborhood of wolves, owing to the chivalrous instincts of the hounds about attacking "the female of the species." Hounds have been known to abandon a chase after a sheep-killing wolf because it happened to be a female animal. For this reason at least one female hound is usually taken, to insure the catching of the quarry.

Dramatic Notes

DIXON OPERA HOUSE.

Dixon theatre goes have but two more opportunities to witness the Geo. Kleines great photo drama, The Last Days of Pompeii: tonight and Sunday and should not miss a chance to see the greatest photo drama ever produced.

Without doubt the most dramatic event in the history of the world was the destruction of Pompeii in 79 A. D. by a terrific eruption of the volcano of Mt. Vesuvius.

Lord Bulwey Lytton in his famous novel, The Last Days of Pompeii, immortalized the event and using data obtained from scientific research George Kleine with his photo dramatization of Lord Lytton's novel will do even more to recall it to modern amusement lovers. His pictures of the eruption gave a most vivid and impressive idea of the awful magnitude of this world famous catastrophe.

Sammy was not prone to over exertion in the class room and therefore his mother was both surprised and delighted when he came home at noon with the announcement, "I got 100 today."

"That's lovely, Sammy," exclaimed the proud mother, kissing him.

"What was it in?"

"Fifty in reading and fifty in 'rith-metic."

Chicago, Oct. 25.—Samuel Eberly Gross, builder of cities, author and playwright, is dead. He died in a sanitarium in Battle Creek, Mich., where he has lived for nearly six years. Death followed a general physical weakness, which manifested itself in 1909, shortly after he had been declared a voluntary bankrupt by the courts of Detroit.

In addition to the fact that he laid out and built twenty-one cities and towns that have since become parts of Chicago, he attracted attention in 1902 by entering a suit against Edmond Rostand, the French playwright, charging that the latter's play, "Cyrano de Bergerac," had been plagiarized from Gross' comedy, "The Merchant Prince of Cornville." He won his contention against Rostand, the United States circuit court handing down a decision in his favor in 1902.

He supervised the construction of more than 10,000 houses and sold 40,000 lots during his career as a real estate operator. A large share of the fortune, estimated at $1,000,000, which he accumulated in the sale of real estate, was spent in supporting his contentions against Rostand.

AUTO IN DITCH; TEACHER DIES

Chicago Heights Business Man Escapes Death in Accident.

Hammond, Ind., Oct. 25.—Miss Alice Gerhard of Algona, Wis., a teacher in the Chicago Heights public school, was instantly killed in an automobile accident six miles south of here shortly after midnight when her companion, Ralph Johnson, a young Chicago Heights business man, drove his powerful car into a ditch during a fog. The machine turned turtle, pinioning the young woman under its ton of weight. Her neck was broken, but Johnson, who was only slightly injured, did not know it until an hour afterward. Farmers took her body from the wreck when the machine cooled off. The dead girl was engaged to marry Johnson. She has a sister living in Chicago.

COLLECTS FOR WILSON GIFT

Representatives Give $5 Each Towards Wedding Present.

Washington, Oct. 25.—Congressmen in an informal meeting called by Republican Leader Mann, selected Speaker Champ Clark chairman of a committee to select a wedding gift for Miss Jessie Wilson.

"How much shall we chip in?" asked Mr. Mann. "Will five dollars a member be too high?"

"No, no," chorused Democrats, Republicans and Progressives, as they handed in their money.

The membership of the house is 432. All contributing, the wedding gift fund would total $2,160. What the gift will be has not been determined.

Washington, Oct. 25.—To prevent European interference in the situation, and to explain the high motives which have actuated his course, President Wilson will issue a statement probably Monday declaring that the Mexican revolution constitutes a purely American question and as such is to be dealt with by the people of Mexico and the United States.

Killing of Man Justified.

Chicago, Oct. 25.—A coroner's jury returned a verdict of "justifiable homicide" when Henry Westlund, twenty-four years old, 2421 West Twelfth street, appeared before it and testified that he had shot James Monks, fifty-two years old, to save his mother's life.

GOTHAM FIRE KILLS 5

FLAMES FOLLOW BLAST IN NEW YORK FACTORY.

Twenty Persons Injured—Forty Have Narrow Escape When They Are Trapped on Roof.

New York, Oct. 25.—Five persons were burned to death and three others were fatally injured in a fire here, which destroyed a six-story loft building in Canal street. Three of the dead were women. Twenty persons were injured when they were forced to jump from fire escapes to avoid being burned to death. The fire resulted from the explosion of a gas oven on the third floor occupied by the Royal Manufacturing company.

Forty men and women narrowly escaped death when they were trapped on the roof. These operatives found the fire escapes blocked with scores of other operatives, who were unable to reach the sidewalk because the drop ladders at the lower ends of the escapes had rusted in their holders and could not be moved. The persons on the top floor then went to the roof, but they were unable to reach adjoining building because of an eight-foot iron picket fence enclosing the roof of the burning building.

The young woman before her marriage was employed in the coupon department of the Southern Pacific railway.

She is said to have confessed to having spent $400 of the proceeds on her trousseau and to have returned the balance to the Southern Pacific company.

Most Beautiful Thing.

A newspaper recently invited its readers to state in a few words what they considered the most beautiful thing in the world.

The first prize was awarded to the sender of the answer: "The eyes of my mother."

"The dream of that which we know to be impossible," suggested an imaginative person, and this brought him second prize.

But the most amusing thing was that which read: "The most beautiful thing in the world is to see a man carrying his mother-in-law across a dangerous river without making any attempt to drop her in."

British Trolley Lines.

In 1912 the trolley lines of Great Britain carried more than 3,000,000,000 passengers. This traffic was carried on 2,642 miles of track and in less than 13,000 cars. Significant also is the fact that whereas in 1900 there were 37,000 horses employed in hauling street cars, in 1912 there were only 1,500.

MINERS ARE SLAIN IN FIERCE BATTLE

Four Strikers Shot to Death by Guards in Fight at Walsenburg, Colo.

SEVERAL OTHERS WOUNDED

Man Hurls Brickbat at Men Escorting Non-Unionists and General Fight Follows—191 Arrested in Michigan.

Walsenburg, Colo., Oct. 25.—Four strikers were killed and several persons wounded here as result of a terrific battle between striking miners and coal company guards.

The strikers are surrounded by mine guards. All the men killed so far are strikers and their comrades have rushed to the tent colony of the strikers, about a mile and a half from the scene of the fighting, to arm themselves with whatever weapons they have in the tents.

The fighting started as guards were escorting non-union men past the Walsenburg mine. A striker threw a brickbat at the guards, and the guards opened fire. Many of the union men were armed and at once returned the fire, many volleys and random shots being fired.

191 Strikers Are Arrested.

Calumet, Mich., Oct. 25.—Because of the wholesale acts of lawlessness committed throughout the copper strike district as the result of the slowness of mining companies and the civil authorities in pressing service on the injunction against picketing and deeds of violence, which was ordered enforced by the supreme court Judge Patrick W. O'Brien of Laurium issued an order to the sheriff and his force to employ what assistance might be necessary to prevent further violation of the injunction. Before morning the order was served on every deputy in the two counties of Houghton and Keeweenaw and General Abbey and the military authorities were notified of the action.

One hundred and ninety-one arrests resulted from this order being made by the force of militia stationed at Wolverine, Copper City, Allouez and Mohawk. The men arrested, believing they were to be brought before justice courts, which have been notoriously lax in handling strike cases, crowded forward at Mohawk to get into line with those arrested and it was not until they reached Houghton, where the county jail is situated, that they realized the meaning of their arrest for contempt of court. At Wolverine and Copper City there were 41 arrests, at Mohawk there were 74, and at Ahmeek and Allouez, which adjoined, there were 86.

BANK PLAN HIT BY WILSON

President Refuses to Support Vanderbilt's Scheme.

Washington, Oct. 25.—Whether there shall be one federal reserve bank with branches throughout the United States, or several banks as provided for in the administration bill, promises to be the chief issue of the final currency reform fight in the senate committee that is to open up Monday.

The hearings of the committee will conclude tonight, and the committee members will begin Monday the arduous task of attempting to agree upon a revision of the Glass bill that will prove acceptable to President Wilson and the house.

The president made it known in emphatic terms that he was opposed to the central bank plan, as suggested by Frank A. Vanderlip of the National City bank of New York, and as endorsed informally by many members of the senate committee.

He reiterated through Secretary Tamm that the Glass-Owen bill, with its system of twelve regional reserve banks related only through the functions of one federal reserve board sitting at Washington, was "admirably suited" to the needs of the country.

HOPE OF RESCUE GONE

U. S. Official Asserts Entombed Miners Are All Dead.

Two Volunteers Perish While Attempting to Save Men in Shaft at Dawson, N. M.

Dawson, N. M., Oct. 25.—The condition of seven bodies brought to the surface at Stag Canon mine No. 2 gave the first indication of the particular location in the mine at which the explosion was the most terrific. Four of the seven bodies were taken from the eighteenth chamber east on the high line, the same room in which two helmet men lost their lives. These four men were far more mutilated than have been any of the rest, clothes having been entirely burned from the body of one man.

The most tragic twelve hours of the disaster in Stag Canon mine No. 2 since the explosion were passed last night.

Not until then did the dead claim the living—those sturdy, silent men who have donned their helmets and oxygen tanks and walked through the thousands of feet of death-lined chambers and entries. Just at the beginning of the day came the news that two of the life-saving crew were dead. Then, with but few exceptions, the remaining helmet men thought, wavered and refused to return to the work of rescue.

Then came the trained rescue crews on the United States rescue service car, which had been hastened forward from the Kansas coal fields. Without stopping for questions, waiting only long enough for instructions, from their director, J. C. Roberts, these men, under the leadership of C. S. Stevens, hurried into the mine. For six hours, stopping only for refilled oxygen tanks, these men tempted death from black damp, falling roofs and timbers, until they finally emerged with the bodies of the two dead helmet men, James Lardi and William Poisa.

An hour before, in the town two miles from the camp, the funeral service was being read over thirty-six bodies of dead miners placed in coffins in the temporary morgue.

The list of recovered dead is now fifty-four.

Chief Roberts of the government rescue service announced his positive belief that no entombed miners are now alive. No miners were found alive during the day, and the number of rescued living still stands at twenty-three.

Mine officials say the 263 will be the probable death list. Two hundred and nine bodies are still in the mine.

OLD HALL IS RE-DEDICATED

President Wilson Reads Address at Philadelphia.

Philadelphia, Oct. 25.—Standing where Washington stood in September, 1796, when he read his farewell address to the American people in which he announced his intention to retire from public life, President Wilson today read an address at the re-dedication of old Congress hall.

The building, which was the capital of the United States from 1790 to 1800, is one of the most important historic edifices in the country, so President Wilson and his cabinet and a delegation from congress, as well as many of the foreign ambassadors, were invited to take part in the re-dedication ceremonies. For more than a century the old building had been used as a court house, for which purpose it was originally intended.

T. R. SEES UNITY BETWEEN AMERICAS

Speaking in Rio de Janeiro, He Declares Relations Are Certain to Become Closer.

HIGH COMPLIMENT TO BRAZIL

Former President Discussing Intervention in Disturbed Republics, Says Wrongdoing Might Force Action by a Strong Power.

Rio de Janeiro, Oct. 25.—The relations between North and South America are certain to become much closer in the future; the development of South America will be the most striking growth feature of the twentieth century as the development of North America was the most striking growth feature of the nineteenth; the only desire of the United States toward its neighbors of the western world is to see them stable, orderly and prosperous—such are the highlights of Theodore Roosevelt's first speech in South America, delivered at the government university here. Colonel Roosevelt, Mrs. Roosevelt and Miss Margaret Roosevelt spent the morning on an excursion to Tijuca Mountain, a peak 3,400 feet high, and had luncheon there. In the afternoon they attended a garden party in the botanical gardens here.

Every American nation, Colonel Roosevelt said, had reason to congratulate itself upon the stability and prosperity of its sister nations.

Intervention Thankless Task.

Any country, he continued, whose people conducted themselves in stable and orderly fashion could place among its assets the hearty and practical friendship of the United States. Chronic wrongdoing, however, might force ultimately in America, as elsewhere, intervention by some strong and stable civilized nation in the exercise of an international police power.

"Such a duty," asserted Colonel Roosevelt, "is thankless, irksome and unpleasant, whether it be performed by England, France or the United States; whether in Algiers, in Egypt or on the Isthmus of Panama. And therefore we all hail with delight the advent to real power of such nations as Brazil, the Argentine and Chile."

Must Face Old World.

Colonel Roosevelt's address teemed with expression of goodwill for South America and admiration for the prowess of her leading nations in building the foundations for their careers. Brazil and other nations of the south, he said, stood on equal footing now with the United States among the council of nations.

And one cardinal doctrine on which all nations of America agreed, he asserted, a doctrine of vital concern to the American family of powers, was the principle that the western world should not be treated as offering ground for fresh colonization or territorial aggrandizement by any old world power.

Who We Are.

There are many people who think that the term "American embassy" should be changed to "United States embassy" because the latter sounds more dignified and befitting this great country. They do not realize, however, that the "United States" may mean the United States of Colombia or the United States of Brazil. As a matter of fact, we are Americans because we live in the United States of America. In Spain, however, "American" means a person who lives in South America. The Spaniards call the people of this country "North Americans" or "Yankees." The latter term was most popular just before the late disturbance between the United States and Spain—with the addition of "pig."—Troy Record.

Old London Landmark to Go.

Built by the French Huguenots seeking refuge from France at the time of the Edict of Nantes of 1685, and having passed from them to the Church of England, and now in the hands of the Congregationalists, the quaint old chapel of Orange street, London, is about to close its doors and vanish. Many notable preachers have occupied its pulpit, among others Toplady, who wrote "Rock of Ages" during his ministry. Rev. Samuel Luke was also minister for some years, and it was his wife who wrote "I think when I read that sweet story of old." An original copy of the hymn in the author's handwriting is one of the treasured possessions of the church.

DAIRY

TO PREVENT HORNS GROWING

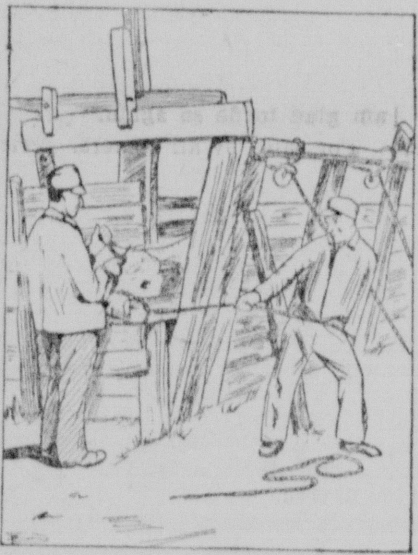

Operation May Be Performed by Simple and Painless Method—How Caustic Is Applied.

(By R. W. HICKMAN.)

When circumstances are favorable, as in the case of farmers who build up their herds by raising the progeny, the horns may be prevented from growing by a simple and practically painless method, and the custom of preventing the growth of horns is becoming more popular and more generally practiced under all conditions. The calf should be treated not later than one week after its birth, preferably when it is from three to five days old.

The agent to be used may be either caustic soda or caustic potash, both of which may be procured in the drug stores in the form of sticks about the thickness of an ordinary lead pencil and five inches long. These caustics must be handled with care, as they dissolve the cattle and may make the hands or fingers sore. The preparation of the calf consists in first clipping the hair from the parts, washing clean with soap and warm water, and thoroughly drying with a towel or cloth. The stick of caustic should be wrapped in a piece of paper to protect the hands and fingers, leaving one end of the stick uncovered.

Moisten the uncovered end slightly and rub it on the horn buttons or little points which may be felt on the calf's head, first on one side and then the other alternately, two or three times on each, allowing the caustic to dry after each application. Be very careful to apply the caustic to the horn button only. If it is brought in contact with the surrounding skin it will cause pain. Be very careful also not to have too much moisture on the skin of caustic, as it will remove the skin if allowed to run down over the face. After treatment, keep the calf protected from rain, as water on the head after the application of caustic will cause it to run down over the face. This must be carefully avoided. Either caustic soda or caustic potash alone, without the admixture of other substances, answers the purpose very satisfactorily.

In the very young calf the horn button, or point that will ultimately develop into a horn, has scarcely any attachment to the skull, and may be felt as a small button embedded in the skin. In this early stage it may be easily removed with a sharp knife or a pair of scissors, but even then caustics should be applied to kill any remaining cell life belonging to this germ point, otherwise there may be some subsequent irregular horn growth, which is more or less of a disfigurement.

Quite So.
"Some of us claim that it is a cold world." "Well?" "And we think we are entitled to free calendars, matches, blotters, toothpicks, almanacs, ice water and hotel writing paper."

PUT BAN ON "MOSQUITOES"

This Story Should Convince Skeptics as to Size and Ferocity of the New Jersey Species.

A struggling young artist in New York who, last summer, felt ill and despondent, decided that if he were to accomplish anything during the coming winter, he must have a vacation in the country. Accordingly, he repaired to a New Jersey resort in the hope of being able to obtain reduced rates.

"Well," said the old chap, who ran the place, "I can't see why I should take you for less money than the others; but I tell you what I'll do. You paint me a nice, fancy picture of the hotel and grounds, and I'll give you a month's board."

The young artist set cheerfully about the task. In a short while he submitted for his host's approval a highly idealized picture of the little house and its grounds. To one of the outbuildings he had added a dove-cote, round which several birds, with the discerning eye might have seen were doves, were hovering.

The landlord didn't think much of this effort. "The picture as a whole," said he, "ain't half bad, but I can't stand for these mosquitoes. You must paint them out, or the bargain's off. They're calculated to scare folks off instead of attraction' them here."

SPECIAL ROPE FOR CLIMBERS

Those Used in the Alps Are Selected for Strength, Reliability and Lightness.

The rope used by Alpine climbers is of special manufacture, combining as far as possible the different qualities of strength, flexibility and lightness.

Three qualities are in general use, being made from sisal, Italian and Manila hemp respectively, and occasionally, when cost is not a consideration, of silk. The latter, though very light and strong, is not so durable as the others. That which finds most favor among British mountaineers is known as Buckingham's Alpine rope. It is made of the best Manila hemp.

In the year 1864 a committee of the Alpine club made tests upon a number of ropes suitable for mountaineering. Of the two that were approved one was made of Italian hemp and the other of Manila. They both had a breaking strain of two tons and sustained the weight of a 170-pound man after falling from a height of ten feet.

Non-mountaineers have sometimes considered this insufficient, but it is highly problematical whether the human anatomy could survive the sudden compression of a thin rope arising from any greater fall—Fry's Magazine.

False Teeth an Italian Invention.

No doubt the statement of a firm of manufacturers that they sell over 12,000,000 false teeth a year, is well founded, since everyone uses them these days. It seems, however, to recall to memory the fact that the use of artificial teeth is just a little over a hundred years old.

The first successful maker was Giuseppe Ponz, an Italian dentist, who started practice in Paris in 1798, and, thanks to his skillful treatment of Lucien Bonaparte, soon made his way. After years of experiment he discovered the substance from which artificial teeth are still made, and received the gold medal of the French Academy of Science. One of the earliest persons fitted with false teeth was the empress of Russia. After Waterloo Ponz migrated to London, and then to Madrid, where Ferdinand VII. of Spain, rewarded him with a yearly pension of a thousand ducats for a set of false teeth.

Music to Lure Fish.

Two Pennsylvania disciples of Isaac Walton have just invented a musical minnow for bass fishing. The new device is described as a wooden minnow, and instead of the usual spinner in front there is carved out the face of a pretty girl. In front of the face is a miniature electric light, the power for which is furnished by a dry battery carried in the pocket of the fishermen, to throw light on the bait, which hangs on the under side.

The minnow is painted red, and within it is a tiny musical box, the playing of which is regulated by the fisherman before he casts his line. The inventors say they adopted the idea because they have found while fishing that bass are attracted by the ringing of a cow bell—Evening Standard.

Widow's Three Tests.

A smart widow at a country house was telling the other day that there were three courses through which every woman should put a man before she married him. These were eating, laughing and kissing. "A man's laugh tells a lot," she said. "If it is hearty and merry he is good tempered; if loud and empty it means he lacks feeling. Beware of a greedy man. It will be a case of 'feed the brute' all the time." And, according to her, kissing was the most important test of all.

Took Prizes in Plowing.

A few days after the new farmer had purchased a horse from a thrifty Scot he returned in an angry mood. "You told me this horse had won half a dozen matches against some of the best horses in the country. He can't trot a mile in six minutes to save himself. You lied to me!" he denounced. "I didn't lie. It was in plowin' matches he took sax prizes," calmly replied Sandy.

FACE BROKE OUT IN LITTLE PIMPLES

Red and Sore. Like Little Boils. Would Wake Up At Night and Scratch. Cuticura Soap and Ointment Cured in Three Weeks.

Falls City, Neb.—"My trouble began when I was about sixteen. My face broke out in little pimples at first. They were red and sore and then became like little boils. I picked at my face continually and it made my face red and sore looking and then I would wake up at night and scratch it. It was a source of continual annoyance to me, as my face was always red and spotted and burned all the time.

"I tried ——— and others, but I could find nothing to cure it. I had been troubled about two years before I found Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I sent for a sample of Cuticura Soap and Ointment and tried them and I then bought some. I washed my face good with the Cuticura Soap and hot water at night and then applied the Cuticura Ointment. In the morning I washed it off with the Cuticura Soap and hot water. In two days I noticed a decided improvement, while in three weeks the cure was complete." (Signed) Judd Knowles, Jan. 10, 1913.

It costs nothing to learn how pure, sweet, effective and satisfying Cuticura Soap and Ointment are in the treatment of poor complexion, red, rough hands, itching scalp, dandruff, dry, thin and falling hair, because you need not buy them until you try them. Although sold everywhere, sample of each will be mailed free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston."

Men who shave and shampoo with Cuticura Soap will find it best for skin and scalp.

ALWAYS A SIGN OF DEATH

Flag at "Half-Staff" Sure Indication That the Dread Visitor Has Been There.

Nearly every one speaks of a flag, when being flown at a distance from the top of the pole, as at "half-mast." This is not the correct expression. Such flags are at "half-staff" because they are flown in this manner whether on land or sea from the flag staff.

To see a flag at half-staff means death. It may mean, on an incoming ship, that one of the passengers or crew died at sea. Many a little fishing vessel comes into Gloucester and T wharf in Boston every season with a flag at half-staff, and this means one of the fishermen, or more, has met death, generally being swept overboard.

This custom of flying flags at half-staff originated first as a token of defeat. That is, when an army was defeated, its flag was lowered down the staff to give room for the victorious army to place its flag above that of the defeated army.

From this the custom grew into flying the flag at half-staff when an officer, army or navy, died. Later it was adopted by civilians as well, and today, when a man of prominence dies, regardless of whether he was sailor, soldier, or civilian, the flags are hung at half-staff. Whereas, in the olden days, when the custom started, the upper space was left to indicate that the victor could put his flag there, now it seems that death is the victor, and so the space is left. It is, of course, a mark of respect to the dead person to have flags at half-staff for him.

CRAMPS, HEADACHE, BACKACHE,

Yield to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Cedar Rapids, Iowa.—"I was always tired and weak and my housework was a drag. I was irregular, had cramps so bad that I would have to lie down, also a distressed feeling in lower part of back, and headache. My abdomen was sore and I know I had organic inflammation.

"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Blood Purifier have helped me wonderfully. I don't have those pains any more and I am all right now. There are a great many women here who take your remedies and I have told others what they have done for me."—Mrs. CHAS. McKINNON, 1013 N. 5th St. W., Cedar Rapids, Iowa.

Women who are suffering from those distressing ills peculiar to their sex should not lose sight of these facts or doubt the ability of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to restore their health.

There are probably hundreds of thousands, perhaps millions of women in the United States who have been benefited by this famous old remedy, which was produced from roots and herbs over 30 years ago by a woman to relieve woman's suffering. If you are sick and need such a medicine, why don't you try it? If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Market Classes and Grades of Mutton for the Chicago Market

80 Per Cent of the Sheep
Received in That City
Are Lambs.

By W. C. Coffey, Head of Sheep Division, University of Illinois.

ALL sheep and lambs sent to market for slaughter, no matter what the condition, age or weight, are classed as mutton sheep.

Of the various sub-classes, the one known as lambs is by far the most important, due to the fact that the producer can most profitably market his sheep as lambs and also that lamb is preferred because they make cheaper gains than sheep and by the consumer because they are more palatable and more convenient to use.

At from twelve to fourteen months of age lambs pass into the yearling and ewe classes. But it is the degree of maturity the young animal has attained rather than a set, definite age which determines whether or not it belongs to the lamb class. Native lambs usually reach maturity at an earlier age than western lambs because they receive a greater abundance of feed, and they are generally free from Merino blood. Let it be understood that the above statement is no disparagement to Merino blood. On the other hand it is not difficult to see that the slower approach to maturity, which holds the animal in the lamb class for a longer time, may prove a decided advantage.

For example, a feeder may buy light western lambs in October and November and feed them until the following May, at which time they will still be classed as lambs, while native lambs of the same age and similarly treated would be regarded as sheep. Because the term lamb applies to a comparatively long period in the life of the animal, there comes a time in the year when for several weeks it is necessary to make two separate quotations on lambs, one of which is designated as spring lambs to distinguish lambs that are born in the year quotations are made from those that were born the year previous. These separate quotations first appear about May 20, and continue until July 1. After the latter date all offerings born in the spring of the previous year are known as yearlings or ewes.

The main factors in determining the grade to which lambs belong are form, quality, condition and weight, and the grades recognized on the market are prime, choice, good, medium, common or culls.

As stated in the discussion under mutton sheep, both the producer and the consumer prefer lambs to older sheep. They are preferred by the pro-

Experiments with Steam Plows on the Prairie Lands of Illinois

First Furrow Was Turned at the State Fair at Centralia in 1858.

By Thomas G. Thompson, Department of Economics, University of Illinois.

THE most striking feature in the development of industry in modern times has been the application of mechanical power in the industrial processes. Up to within recent years, at least, this is tantamount to a declaration of the pre-eminence of steam power in industry. It is not surprising, therefore, that agriculturists and others should have wished to call to the aid of agriculture that agency which had so revolutionized industry in the narrower sense. It is no less natural that its aid should have been sought especially in plowing, the heaviest of farm operations, which is said, whether correctly or incorrectly, to require more power annually than that utilized in all the factories in the world. Further, it was to be expected that the western prairies, especially those of Illinois, should become the center of interest in experiments with the steam plow.

The first patent in connection with the use of steam power in plowing in the United States was taken out by a South Carolinian in 1833, but nothing practically resulted from this attempt. It is related that in 1838 a steam plow was in process of construction in New Jersey, designed to operate on the western prairies and that one had been ordered for use in the valley of the Wabash; and the subject continued to attract attention for several years in the west, where the high cost of labor, the large size of the farms, and the level and open character of the surface appeared peculiarly favorable for experiment with such an implement. The subject seems to have received little further attention, however, until about 1850, when active experiments with reference to the steam plow in England aroused interest anew in the subject in this country.

Finally in 1858 the State Agricultural society offered a premium of

$5,000 for the best steam engine, suitable for plowing and other work, and on Sept. 16 of that year at the state fair at Centralia the "first furrow by steam on Illinois soil was turned."

The plow was that of Joseph Fawkes of Pennsylvania, and this preliminary trial brought him fame at once. The most enthusiastic expectations were aroused with reference to the possibilities of the use of the steam plow on the farm. It was confidently expected by many of the most prominent men in the state that not only plowing but an incredible number and variety of other farm operations would be at once performed by steam. The official trial for the $5,000 premium, however, occurred Nov. 10, 1858, at Decatur, in the presence of an immense crowd of people.

At the earlier trial at Centralia the ground had been firm and solid, but now the weather was unfavorable, the ground soft and slippery, and the engine failed to develop sufficient traction power and, accordingly, it failed to do satisfactory work. Many, making allowance for conditions, clamored for the awarding of the premium, but the authorities were doubtless justified in their refusal to bestow it.

What were the causes of the failure of the steam plow in Illinois? There were many reasons for failure but perhaps the most prominent reason is the low cost of animal power in this region of corn and oats. The uncertainties of the climate as contrasted with that of the Pacific coast or that of the Trans-Mississippi northwest afforded another important reason. Again, the large amount of water and fuel required could not be secured on the prairie on an economical basis, and the cost of the machine itself was too great, considering the fact that there proved to be so many operations to which steam could not be applied and which thus required the maintenance of teams. Still another reason was the break-up of the large farms of the state, which admittedly afforded the most favorable sphere of operations.

Profits of German Forests.

On the best German forests the annual expense is $13 an acre, but the gross returns are as much as $24; thus they return a net sum of $11 an acre per annum.

SICK, SOUR STOMACH INDIGESTION OR GAS

"Pape's Diapepsin," makes up Stomachs Feel Fine in Five minutes

Wonder what upset your stomach—which portion of the food did the damage—do you? Well don't bother. If your stomach is in a revolt; sour, gassy and upset, and what you just ate has fermented in stubborn lumps; head, dizzy, aches; belch gases and acids and eructate undigested food; breath foul, tongue coated—just take little Pape's Diapepsin and in five minutes you wonder what became of the indigestion and distress.

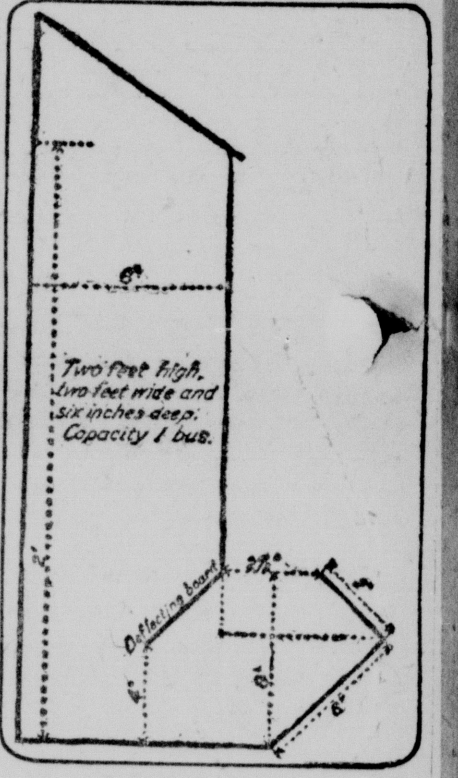

Millions of men and women today know that it is needless to have a bad stomach. A little Diapepsin occasionally keeps this delicate organ regulated and they eat their favorite foods without fear.

If your stomach doesn't take care of your liberal limit without rebellion; if your food is a damage instead of a help, remember the quick, surest, most harmless relief is Pape's Diapepsin which costs only fifty cents for a large case at drug stores. It's truly wonderful—it digests food and sets things straight so gently and easily that it is really astonishing. Please, for your sake, don't go on and on with a weak, disordered stomach; it's so unnecessary.

er stock. It is well, however, to keep the dimensions of the feed opening the same, this opening being specially designed to prevent waste. The ends are made of one-inch material, and the rest of the hopper of half-inch stuff. Any lumber that is at hand may be used, and the construction is so simple that anyone able to use a hammer and saw can knock one together in a very short time.

FATTEN CHICKENS FOR TABLE

Fowls Should Be Placed in Portable Pen Without Crowding—Feed Sparingly for Three Days.

Prepare a portable pen by nailing strips of lumber together to form a frame, and then tacking on pieces horizontally, so as to make an enclosure, leaving sufficient opening to give light and ventilation. The pen writes a Virginia man in the Epitome, should be floored, and sufficient outlet left for the droppings. A roof should be made, and without leaks.

The whole should be made large enough for ample accommodations depending upon the number of birds to be kept in. Only fowls that are peaceable should be kept together. Do not overfeed at first; after two or three days give all that they will eat up clean, and be sure to give water after they have finished eating. Give buttermilk occasionally, as most fowls like it. Sprinkle sand, gravel or charcoal in the pen occasionally. In from one to two weeks fowls should be in good condition for eating, if there is nothing wrong with them.

KEEP HANDS OFF MEXICO, TO BE U.S. DEMAND OF WORLD

Reaffirmation of Monroe Doctrine Planned as Sequel to Sunday's Election.

EUROPE'S STAND IS CAUSE

Great Britain Denies Garden Interview—Huerta Drops From Race—Diaz Still Feels Arrest at Vera Cruz.

Washington, Oct. 25.—This government is about to notify the nations of the world that any interference in Mexican affairs will be considered an unfriendly act by the United States. President Wilson, Secretary Bryan and John Bassett Moore, counselor of the state department, have exchanged ideas on what the proclamation should express. A note will be communicated to foreign governments everywhere, however, in line with the established policy of keeping other nations informed of every step taken in American handling of the Mexican problem. The proclamation or note also will serve, it is understood, as an explicit definition of the policy of the United States toward the de facto authorities in Mexico, reiterating the principle that recognition on this hemisphere can be given only to governments founded on law and order.

Roused by Briton's Act. It was virtually decided to hold the note in abeyance at least until after the elections in Mexico Sunday.

Two things, it is known, have contributed to the determination of the government to define its policy—the presentation by Sir Lionel Carden of his credentials as British minister to Mexico immediately after Huerta had proclaimed himself dictator, and the dispatch of several war vessels to Mexican waters.

The British embassy, at the direction of the foreign office, advised Secretary Bryan officially that the British government pronounced as unauthentic the interview credited to Sir Lionel, expressing the view that the United States did not understand conditions in Mexico.

Another incident that was regarded with significance was the assurance that came from Ambassador Jusserand to the state department that the French government in sending a warship to Mexican waters did not intend in any way to embarrass the United States. Officials indicated satisfaction over the trend of the French government's attitude.

There is a possibility that if the powers indicate further an unwillingness to embarrass the United States this government may withhold its pronouncement, but some officials were of the opinion that sooner or later such a declaration, which they regarded as tantamount to reaffirmation of the principles of the Monroe doctrine, would be required.

Administration officials generally maintained a severe reticence in connection with Mexican affairs. They admitted that an acute and delicate situation existed when word was received that an American vessel, the Morro Castle, had been detained. There was a noticeable relief in official circles when cablegrams announced the release of the ship.

Secretary Bryan was in frequent conference with the president during the day. He called attention to Huerta's promise to the diplomatic corps that even if his friends voted for him he would not accept the presidency on the ground that it would be unconstitutional for him to succeed himself.

Talk of Huerta Pledge. Inasmuch as President Wilson recently announced that the United States regarded the assumption of dictatorship by Huerta as a violation of the promise for a constitutional election, the result of the election is not likely to have any considerable effect on the American policy.

The predicament of Gen. Felix Diaz, candidate for the presidency, who remains isolated at Vera Cruz, aroused the attention of American officials, who are determined to give him asylum if necessary. The position of the administration with respect to all candidates is that they should not be molested in any way.

Reports Rebels Repulsed. City of Mexico, Oct. 27.—The war department received a dispatch saying the rebels had been repulsed at Monterrey with heavy losses by the local garrison, which was reinforced by the troops from Saltillo and Hipolito, after ten hours of fierce fighting. The dispatch was from General Ibarri, federal commander at Monterrey.

It said the rebels under Jesus Carranza, numbering 6,000, attacked the city from the north and west and fought their way to the outskirts. They were battered by the artillery on Obispo Hill, to which they replied with two cannon and several machine guns.

The garrison was in a bad way when Generals Pena and Ocaranza, with 1,500 men, and General Anaya, with 1,000, arrived and caught the rebels on the rear and flank.

The dispatch estimated the rebel loss at 800 men. There is no truth in the report that the entire personal staff of President Huerta has been arrested.

Oysters are now caught by steamers, power boats and fast sailing vessels, delivered promptly at the shipping houses. They are thus not subject to the delays formerly experienced. They are kept cold by artificial refrigeration and by pure artificial ice. Oysters, either in shell or opened, are now shipped from the Atlantic coast to the Pacific, arriving there in as perfect condition as when taken from the water. There is no place in the United States or British America where the railroads penetrate in which oysters cannot be received in perfect condition.

A quart of bulk Oysters weighs two pounds at 40c per quart equals 20c per pound and no waste. They are not a luxury. They are a cheap meat.
